

LUTHERAN PAPER PUBLISHED HERE ORDERED MERGED

Church Publication Edited By Dr. Wentz And Review To Be Combined.

Merger of the Lutheran Quarterly, a church magazine, published here, and edited by the Rev. Dr. A. R. Wentz, of the Lutheran Theological Seminary staff, and the Lutheran Review, published at Mount Airy Seminary, Philadelphia, was ordered after brisk debate at the biennial meeting of the United Lutheran Church in America, now in session at Richmond, Virginia.

On recommendation of the committee on church papers, the convention authorized the publication of a new monthly magazine "for pastors and all others interested in the life and work of the church in its broader aspects." It also voted to continue publication of a weekly paper for members of congregations. It rejected a recommendation of the committee that a scientific theological quarterly of high grade be published as a "necessary medium to cultivate Christian thought."

The Rev. Dr. Wentz and the Rev. Dr. H. Offerman, of Mount Airy Seminary, approved the general idea of such a publication but questioned the wisdom of the church placing its official stamp upon it. Dr. Wentz feared that it would voice views which might cause "other bodies to call us down."

Brings Heated Debate
Mention of the Lutheran Quarterly brought it under the fire of the Rev. C. S. Bream, of Lincoln, Nebraska, a native of Gettysburg and graduate of the College and Seminary here, who regarded some of its editorial utterances as intolerant. He harked back to the days when he was a boy and his father, Harvey Bream, of Gettysburg, used to read the old Lutheran Observer on Sunday evenings.

"Not infrequently," declared the speaker, "my father would fall asleep perusing its pages and I would pick up the paper and read it myself, enjoying it greatly."

He went on to say that he had voiced strenuous protests against the objectionable editorial utterances but they always had fallen on barren ground.

The Rev. Dr. E. B. Burgess, president of the Pittsburgh Synod, provoked applause when he declared that the Lutheran Quarterly was being conducted on a high plane and in no wise merited the criticism directed at it.

$4,400,000 Budget Approved
The convention adopted a budget of $4,400,000 for the ensuing biennium after rejecting amendments calling for a reduction of the budget to $3,000,000 and an increase to $5,000,000.

W. W. Doub, layman from Frederick, who proposed increasing the amount, said that the convention ought to get away from thinking in small terms. Robert H. Bove, New York, proposed a reduction and was strongly backed by William H. Hager, Lancaster. G. E. Neff, York, stood for an increase.

$1,320,000 for Foreign Missions
The amount agreed upon was that recommended by the executive board. Of this, $1,320,000 will go toward foreign missions.

Several missionaries from foreign fields were heard, among them being the Rev. R. M. Dunkelberger, formerly of Gettysburg, who has been head of the Lutheran Church mission field in India for many years. There are 5,000,000 Christians and 310,000,000 non-Christians in India, the speaker said.

Rev. Harold Redcay Weds Wednesday

Announcements have been received here of the marriage of the Rev. William Harold Redcay, graduate of Gettysburg College and Theological Seminary, and Miss Marie Louise Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ewing, Westville, New Jersey. The ceremony was performed in Westville Wednesday by the Rev. W. I. Redcay, of Clay, New York, father of the groom.

Upon his graduation from the seminary, the Rev. Mr. Redcay became pastor at Westville, later being moved to Reisterstown, Maryland, where the couple will reside.

NIP AND TUCK BATTLE PROMISED

Alumni and Visitors on Edge For Game With Bucknell; Dances and Play in Evening.

The old "grads" with a fair sprinkling of girls started arriving in town today for the Alumni Day celebration which will be held at the college tomorrow. While the feature of the day so far as the alumni are concerned will be the game between Bucknell and Gettysburg, the members of the fairer sex are as one in agreeing that their best time will be had at the dances which will be held by the fraternities tomorrow night after the Owl and Nightingale show.

The ancient enemies will go into battle tomorrow, each with a grudge to settle, the Bullets being eager to show the Lewisburgians that the latter can be beaten with neatness and dispatch by a Gettysburg team, something which hasn't been done in years, and the visitors to avenge the defeat which they suffered last Saturday at the hands of the strong Villa Nova aggregation.

That the game will be nip-and-tuck from the first kick-off to the final whistle is not a matter of conjecture with the dopesters about the town as each team has been having a fluctuating season of ups and downs, showing their strength when least expected and falling down when the odds were heavily in their favor and are anxious to retrieve their lost prestige.

It is no open secret that the Bucknell squad is due for a "shaking up" when they come to grips with the local contingent and the same is also true of the Wood-coached men, but the reason is far different. Publicity despatches from the up-staters carry the message that the number of fumbles and bad passes which helped with their defeat last week are directly responsible for a change in the lineup but injuries will likely have their telling effect with the Bullets.

That every stratagem will be used by both teams is also needless to say but not one dissenting opinion is heard that the game will be a "set-up." The game starts at 2:30 o'clock.

PRISON SITE IS CHOSEN BY BOARD

(By Associated Press.) Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—A site in Skippack township, Montgomery county, 10 miles north of Norristown, has been chosen for the proposed new Eastern penitentiary.

The selection was made at a meeting of the prison site commission. The attorney general was requested to negotiate with the owners of 1,500 acres in the proposed location.

READING OBJECTS TO PAYING PART OF SUBWAY COSTS

Company Enters Formal Protest to Assessment For Construction of Gardners Underpass.

Formal objection to paying its share of the construction cost of the proposed subway on the Gettysburg-Carlisle road near Gardners was entered by the Reading company at a hearing before the state public service commission in Harrisburg, Friday.

The cost of the proposed underpass on the new ten-mile stretch of concrete in the upper section of Adams and the lower end of Cumberland county has been fixed at approximately $51,000, with the railroad's share fixed at $19,500, according to reports.

The county's share of the cost of building the subway to carry the new concrete road under the tracks of the Reading has been designated as $9,000. Tyrone township, in which the subway would be located, has been passed by in the allocation of the cost of the underpass.

Question Cast
Adams county's commissioners, C. A. Hershey, Reuben Schwartz and E. G. Lower; their clerk, Raymond E. Deardoff; solicitor, J. L. Williams; the three supervisors of Tyrone township, W. S. Gardner, David Cashman and Edward Martin, and their legal representative, Raymond F. Topper, attended the hearing.

The railroad's legal advisors challenged the right of the public service commission in dividing the expenditures and also asked to be relieved of any share in the allocation of the costs, inasmuch, they said, as abolition of the present grade crossing in Gardners was not granted by the commission and that the railroad would receive no benefit from the subway.

The railroad contends that the building of a subway for the new road did not eliminate the danger of accidents on the present grade crossing in Gardners, and that it might still be named defendant in actions for damages as the result of accidents occurring at the present Gardners crossing, which will be allowed to remain as it is.

Expect Delay In Work
The commission took the matter under advisement, and is expected to make known its decision later. The new complication injected into the building of the underpass is expected to delay final completion of the ten-mile stretch of concrete highway now under construction between Tyson's corner and Mt. Holly Springs.

The Henry W. Horst Company, engaged in building the road, was only 9 per cent ahead of schedule a week ago having dropped from 38 per cent above schedule a few weeks before.

C. E. Arranges Special Program

The Senior Christian Endeavor society of St. James' Lutheran church will observe Rally Day at its meeting Sunday evening, it was stated today by officers of the organization, who said an invitation to attend has been extended "to all those who have ever attended C. E. and all those who ever expect to attend." The services begin at 6 o'clock and are open to the public.

The topic of the lesson is "Lessons From Great Athletes" and the feature number of the program is an address on that subject by Fred P. Haehnel, assistant coach at Gettysburg High School. Musical numbers include a violin solo by Louis Wolf, of Gettysburg College, and a vocal duet by Henry Neikirk and Ralph Mumma, also of college. Harry Allemen is in charge of the program.

BIGLERVILLE FIREMEN PLAN ANNUAL FAIR

At a recent meeting of the Biglerville Fire Company plans were completed for their annual fair which will be held in the auditorium on the evenings of November 5 and 6. Committees which were appointed last week are already at work and report hearty response from those who have been asked to help. The famous Biglerville chicken soup will be served and there will be plenty of other good things to eat. For the younger element there will be various games and at all times there will be enough amusements to keep every one interested. A band will be in attendance.

Sixth District Sunday Schools To Hold Conference

The fall conference of the Sixth District Sunday School Association will be held at Aspers Lutheran church, Aspers, Sunday afternoon and evening.

The afternoon session will start at 1:45 o'clock, with song service by W. G. Enck. Devotions will be conducted by a young people's class from Wensville Lutheran Sunday School. Profitable mission programs will be discussed by three Sunday School superintendents, I. C. Bucher, Bendersville Lutheran; J. Hoke Slaybaugh, Biglerville United Brethren; and J. B. Bushey, Arendtsville Lutheran.

The address of the afternoon will be on the subject "Parent Training," by Dr. H. Hadwin Fischer, of Gettysburg Theological Seminary.

The evening session will begin at 7 o'clock with song service led by W. G. Enck, devotions by the Rev. O. D. Coble, roll call of delegates, report of state convention by Mrs. Charles C. Taylor. Special music will be given by W. G. Enck and the address of the evening by Dr. H. Hadwin Fischer.

FIREMEN TO MEET HERE IN 1927

George McClellan and James Aumen Named Officers of South-eastern Organization.

The annual meeting of the Southeastern Firemen's Association was held Thursday afternoon and evening in the Veterans firemen's home, Harrisburg, large delegations being present from the six counties comprising the association. A large delegation was present from Adams county.

John Young, of York, president, presided. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

Frank Dean, Lancaster, president; George W. Lutz, Harrisburg; George A. McClellan, Gettysburg; I. Milton Bach, Lebanon; Lester Soper, West Fairview, and Victor Conklin, York, vice presidents; Ivan Kauffman, Columbia, recording secretary; Clyde S. Heckert, Steelton, financial secretary; William James, Harrisburg, treasurer, and Albert Keys, Harrisburg, delegate to the state convention.

President Dean appointed the following on an executive committee: James B. Aumen, Gettysburg, chairman; John York, York; George Kennedy, Harrisburg; J. Fred Brown, Carlisle; John Shupp, Steelton; J. William Morgan, Harrisburg, and Clarence Shully, Lancaster.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $1,468.50. The next quarterly meeting will be held in Columbia as guests of the Keystone Hook and Ladder company, that place.

Gettysburg was selected for the 1927 annual meeting of the association.

At the close of the evening business session, the women's auxiliary of the Veterans' Home served a banquet to more than 200 delegates and members.

LARGE AUDIENCE IS PLEASED WITH ACORN CLUB SHOW

Leading Characters Present Musical Comedy "Fleurette" At Majestic Theatre.

"Fleurette," a musical comedy, was entertainingly presented to a large audience in the Majestic Theatre, by local talent, Thursday evening.

The theme of the play is woven about a pretty French girl, employed in the shop of a New York milliner, and the show opens with her engagement to a promising young attorney. Afterward, "Fleurette," the little French girl, becomes the center of a plot to cure Lady Anastasia Wickham of lack of interest in her husband, who is lavish in his regard for her.

Lady Wickham's brother invents the scheme to have his sister appreciate her husband by playing off "Fleurette" against the elderly Sir Newton Wickham. This develops numerous complications, some of an amusing nature, which are finally straightened out to the satisfaction of everyone after full explanations have been given.

Cast Splendid
On the whole, the cast was better drilled than the choruses, which, for the most part, were ragged both in singing and in dancing. However, most of the members in the cast had previous stage appearance, which stood them in good stead.

The show was staged under the auspices of the Acorn Club by the John B. Rogers Producing Company. Miss Thelma Stevens was the director.

In the cast were Miss Mary Culp, as Cleopha, a maid; C. S. Thomas, Richard Hendricks, a young attorney; Mrs. Grace Ramer Myers, Jean-Du Prey, otherwise known as "Fleurette"; William G. Weaver, Sir Newton Wickham; Murray Miller, Walter Wright, his brother-in-law; Miss Annetta Miller, Lady Anastasia Wickham; Charles Weaver, Dave Dillingham, a theatrical producer; Glenn Stauffer, Pierre Du Prey, "Fleurette's" uncle, and Miss Helen Reaser, Billy, an actress.

Cast of Characters
The personnel of the various choruses follow:

"It's The Hat And Not The Girl," Dorothy Bushman, Louella Leister, Katherine Plank, Ruby Clapsaddle, Sarah Sheads, Lottie Klinsfelter, Laura Krout, Louise Rice, Anna Aughinbaugh, Bernice Snyder.

"Fleurette Boys," Glenn Stauffer, Elwood Myers, Javens Plank, Robert Taylor, Charles Appler, William Martin, Howard Williams, William Mickley, Paul Trostle, Burnell Buohl.

$20,630 PLEDGED TO PENSION FUND

Delegation From Local Church Attend Sessions of Carlisle Presbytery Laymen.

A total of $20,630 has been pledged in the Carlisle Presbytery for the Presbyterian pension fund for retired ministers or their widows, it was reported at a dinner meeting of the laymen's committee of the Carlisle Presbytery at the Washington Hotel in Chambersburg Thursday evening.

The Carlisle Presbytery has been divided into two sections, the eastern and western. The eastern section, comprising Harrisburg, Carlisle, Lebanon and Duncannon divisions, met at the Penn-Harris hotel at noon Thursday, and reported a total of $15,425. The western section, comprising the divisions of Chambersburg, Shippensburg and Gettysburg, made the total for the Presbytery of $20,630, as reported Thursday evening.

The Rev. Reid S. Dickson, of Philadelphia, was the speaker at the dinner. J. S. Omwake, chairman of the western section, presided.

A dinner meeting of both sections will be held on Tuesday evening, October 26, in the Penn-Harris, Harrisburg.

S. Gray Bigham, of Biglerville; J. Paxton Bigham, Professor J. Allen Dickson, S. F. Lehman, Wimbirt Neely, Edmund W. Thomas and Reverend D. W. Woods were among the local persons in attendance.

$5000 FIRE LOSS AT NEW OXFORD

Two Cars and Garage Completely Destroyed When Lantern Ignites Gasoline Fumes.

Two automobiles were destroyed in a fire which consumed the garage on the farm of Frank Carbaugh, near New Oxford, at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening.

Henry Carbaugh, a son of Mr. Carbaugh, was taking gasoline from a large tank in the fore part of the garage, when the light of the lantern, furnishing him illumination for his task, ignited the fumes of the gasoline.

In a few minutes the place was a mass of flames and beyond saving. The young man ran to the home of his grandfather, Harry Carbaugh, and put in a call for the New Oxford fire department, which responded. The Carbaugh farm is about two miles southeast of New Oxford, near Berlin Junction, and the nearest water supply was that in the pond at the Alwine brick company plant. New Oxford has a modern pumper, and a hose line was run to the pond, about 700 feet from the blazing garage.

The fire, however, had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the garage and cars, but the straw stack at the barn nearby was damped, preventing the fire's igniting it and the barn.

The garage, a nearly new structure, designed to hold three cars, housed the automobile of Frank Carbaugh, and those of his sons, Raphael and Henry. Henry's car was not in the building at the time of the blaze, however. The family was home, but could do nothing to extinguish the fire.

The loss of Mr. Carbaugh and his son is estimated at about $5,000.

BOY INJURED AS TRAIN HITS CAR AT GRADE CROSSING

Machine Completely Wrecked At Brush Run In Collision With Western Maryland.

Little Aubrey Landis was injured and another grade-crossing accident was added to the already large number which have occurred in this county, this morning. A machine containing tourists from Lancaster county was completely wrecked and the boy, scarcely five years of age, suffered lacerations. Three other occupants of the machine suffered from shock.

The latest accident occurred at the intersection of the Western Maryland railroad and the Lincoln Highway at Brush Run shortly before 9 o'clock and the occupants of the machine with the exception of the child miraculously escaped injury in the collision.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Wideman, of Marietta, Lancaster county, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Landis and her grandson, Aubrey Landis, of Columbia, enroute to Bridgewater, Virginia, approached the crossing from the east, unaware of its proximity, there being no bell to warn the travelers, and no watchman.

Too Close To Stop
They were too close to the crossing for Mr. Wideman to stop, when the engineer blew the whistle for the crossing and the front of the machine was on the tracks when it was struck and carried a short distance.

That none of the occupants were killed is considered remarkable by people who live close to the scene of the accident. The child received lacerations about the head and body. Dr. G. H. Seaks, who resides at New Oxford, was called and rendered medical aid at the home of Ellis Miller, who resides to the east of the crossing, where the party sought aid.

Coincidence Plays Part
Several other accidents or near accidents have occurred at this crossing, according to Mrs. Ellis Miller, who stated today that it was a coincidence that the machine should have been struck this morning.

In the past one of the sons of Mr. Miller has been the self-appointed guardian of the crossing, taking a station at the intersection upon the approach of a passenger or freight train and warning the motorists of the approach of the train, but today all of the members of the family with the exception of Mrs. Miller were engaged in shocking corn on the farm, and Mrs. Miller being busy with her house duties, preparing dinner and the like, did not have time to go to the crossing and warn of the approach of the train. This service has been rendered by the members of the Miller family for strictly humanitarian reasons, no compensation being received by any of the volunteer guards, and that the accident should have happened today when none was available to warn the drivers has been classed as a strange coincidence by residents in that section.

The machine was so completely wrecked that it had to be towed to a garage at New Oxford and the members of the party were forced to continue on their way by motor bus and train.

TENNANT PLAYS WITH ST. MARY'S

"Big Jim" Tennant, former Gettysburg High School athletic ace, will play football for Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, which he is attending, against Davis and Elkins College, at Elkins, West Virginia, Saturday.

Tennant is expected to be a big factor in the Mountaineers' offensive, being selected for the important backfield position by reason of his extensive experience.

Youth and love—both priceless and both unobtainable.

Where there's a will there's a way for the will.

And That's That

—by—

John Ruth

Well, we went up to the ticket window of the Majestic last night and asked for a press ticket. We were refused our request. As a gate crasher I suppose we are rather poor, but we're mad over not getting in free.

But our good friend Connie Thomas said a song or two. Any show in which Connie sings is bound to have just that much good in it. Our only regret was that Connie did not sing more frequently.

Mr. Ostrom sat next to us. Said he—"Isn't it a shame Connie is not going on the stage as a profession?" We make it a point never to agree with Mr. Ostrom but we were forced to throw away our prejudice.

Then, we liked Murray Miller. He acted as if he had seen a show before—and Fleurette herself was not half bad. But we have no intention of saying anything complimentary concerning the production. We know how personal it is when "Little Mary" and "Young William" are taking part in the "hometown show." However, since we have a fondness for "red" ones at the end of the line to the left.

And while we are on the subject of free tickets we still maintain our stand that it is a shame the Athletic Council refuses to give only two tickets to the senior members of the football squad and only one to all others. After all it seems to us that all of the squad work about the same.

And then when one goes to a game and sees several hundred seats unoccupied it makes one have such a warm brotherly feeling for the big-hearted brothers who "look out" for the members of the squad. We feel about them the same way we do about those "buddies" who had the "white collar" jobs during the war. It is never an uncommon occurrence for a member of the Athletic Council of any institution to have a dozen or so guests at a game. "Darn clever these Chinese."

Somebody has accused us of having a fondness for a particular fraternity. We want it understood right here that we have no use what-so-ever for fraternities of any sort. We hate fraternity politics and we shall do all within our power to keep the slate clean. Fraternities generally make good men act like bad babies. And that's that.

This column is looking forward to the opportunity of seeing "A Pair of Sixes" tonight. We paid out our good money for a ticket but it will be the Owl and Nightingale Club that will pay in the end.

"My Dear Mr. Ruth, For the past month I have been a constant reader of your column. What I want to know is who you are? Are you any relation to the big Bambino? If so, what is the relation? You seem to take great delight in swatting people. That fact prompted me to ask the above question.

I have a question, my dear Mr. Ruth: who is the Continental individual who walks about the streets of our modest town with that Greenwich Village hat. I've seen those cranial ornaments at Princeton, Dartmouth and other inconsequential colleges, but hoped that our fair campus would not have its conservative status jolted by the introduction of this university fad.

You have, in the past, given good account of yourself as a sleuth. You will be able to trace down this intrepid soul that "doth bescreen the night and stumbleth on my counsel."

No, I have no grievance against this man. I want to know who he is. I am only hoping and praying that he is not a hat agent who is trying to create a fad in this town. If he is that all the great hopes I had for him are shattered; for then, he would not be individualist that I hoped he was, but a mere business man who is making capital of my love for the artistic.

Three weeks ago when I walked the streets of Greenwich village I saw three couples topped off in the same manner as this man under discussion. Perhaps we have some of those folks in town with us. If this proves to be the case, I wish you would interview him and give us a story about the village. Most of us haven't been places and we haven't seen much; therefore we are in need of any exotic coloring that you might be able to put into your column.

Now isn't that funny. We saw that fellow with the cap this afternoon. In fact we saw him frequently. We shall do all within our power to find out the identity of the individual. We do know this much—we like the cap.

And we can't go to bed without slamming the co-eds. Somebody

'QUAKE IS FELT IN CALIFORNIA

Two Severe Shocks Cause
Buildings to Sway; No Serious
Damage Is Reported.

(By Associated Press.)

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Two violent earthquakes rocked the central coast counties of California this morning just an hour apart. The first was at 4:36 and lasted about 20 seconds. The second was at 5:33 a. m. and was much sharper, but lasted only about 15 seconds.

A third and lighter shock occurred about an hour later.

No injuries and no serious damage had been reported from the shock. The center of the shock appeared to be between San Francisco and Monterey Bay. The tremors were felt as far south as San Luis Obispo, 250 miles from San Francisco, and as far north as Napa, 50 miles from here. They also were felt at Stockton, 90 miles southwest.

In San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose, the largest cities affected, large buildings swayed like trees driving people into the streets and parks for safety. Hotel guests were shaken from their slumbers and those who did not rush into streets gathered scantily clad in the lobbies.

Other cities reporting the tremors: Salinas, severe shock; Santa Cruz, shocks swayed buildings and broke windows; San Jose, windows broken; Oakland, shocks violently shook buildings; Stockton, shocks not so severe; Palo Alto, shocks violent but no injuries and no serious damage reported; Sacramento, shocks not serious.

The quakes appeared to move in a north-south direction along the old flat which caused the trouble in the quake of 1906.

At the Palace Hotel, one of the largest in the city, plate glass windows were broken, plaster fell from ceilings and small cracks appeared in the lobby floors.

At the Bulletin building clocks were stopped; molten type metal was shaken from the pots in the stereotyping room and furniture shaken about.

San Barbara, which suffered in the 1925 quake, apparently did not feel today's disturbance.

Many wild rumors were in circulation over the state about the shocks. One of them was that the 16 story Pacific Gas and Electric building here had been turned around. So far as could be ascertained, no damage was done to that building.

Golden Gate park was the refuge of hundreds within a few minutes after the first shock. The Pacific telephone and telegraph company reported that the quakes were felt in practically every town up and down the coast for 300 miles and more than 100 miles inland.

Gas, light and water services were not interrupted anywhere.

Police and fire stations and newspaper offices were besieged by telephone inquiries from frightened residents who were told to go to parks if the buildings they were in were not substantial.

STOCK REPORT

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Oct. 22.—The recovery in stock prices was resumed at the opening of today's market but the volume of trading was only moderate. Speculative offerings and selective buying caused a number of contrary movements in the late forenoon. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

gave us a little kitten. The darn thing is always scratching and biting us when we try to be nice and friendly with it. And by the way,—we named it "Polly." "Nize kitty." Slam—Bang.

Needless to say, we wish to thank the party that sent us the kitten. We appreciate such little tokens of admiration. Perhaps the Odd Fellows will send us something?

3 Ton-Litters Are Raised At State

State College.—Three ton litters were grown by the Pennsylvania State College farms this year, M. F. Grimes, of the college animal husbandry department, reported today. Three breeds—Chester White, Berkshire, and Duroc-Jersey—are represented.

Eleven Chester Whites tipped the scales at 2,534 pounds, 10 Berkshires weighed 2,112 pounds, and 10 Duroc-Jerseys totaled 2,024 pounds. All three litters were self-fed shelled corn and tankage and were hand-fed midlings, buttermilk and minerals. They ran on rape pasture.

A ton litter is a litter of pigs which weighs 2,000 or more pounds at 180 days of age. Last year Pennsylvania, with 121 ton litters, tied Illinois for first place among the states. Penn State had one of these, a Chester White litter.

HIGH TO MEET REYNOLDS' TEAM

Game With Sunbury Saturday to be One of Hardest Which Locals Face This Year.

Gettysburg High goes forth to do battle with Sunbury High at that place Saturday. This game is second to only the Gettysburg Academy game in importance on the high school schedule. The rivalry between Sunbury and Gettysburg is of the highest and one has but to recall the games of the past two years to verify that statement. Added to this is the presence of Professor W. D. Reynolds, former coach here and now chief mentor of Sunbury.

Gettysburg first met Sunbury on the gridiron in 1924. The game was played at Sunbury and resulted in a 6-0 victory for the battlefield boys. The teams were very evenly matched and the game was grimly waged. Last year Sunbury visited the locals and again Sunbury bowed by the score, 6-0. Sunbury has these two defeats to avenge and she will put forth her best efforts in tomorrow's game to bring down the Maroon and White team.

The local boys are confident of being able to continue the streak of victories over the up-state team. Coach Martin is determined to have his team in good condition for the game. Instead of a usual holiday on Monday, the boys were sent through a light drill. The rest of the work-outs during the week were hard and long. Each night the team was kept until dark, scrimmaging and running.

Gettysburg's decisive victory over Chester High last Saturday has boosted the local team in the estimation of dopesters on scholastic football of Central Pennsylvania. By comparative scores, York, Williamsport, Steelton and Gettysburg loom as the leaders of the district fight for honors. As one of the leading sport papers of Pennsylvania quotes: "Gettysburg this year looks like one of the strongest of grid combinations, according to scores."

A large delegation of local fans are expected to accompany the team to Sunbury. At Sunbury the excitement over the coming fray is equally high and a record attendance is expected at the game.

The officials for the game are announced as being: Rilk, of Plymouth, referee; Turick, of Glen Lyon, umpire, and Saul, of Harrisburg, head linesman.

The probable line-ups for the game are:

Gettysburg	Sunbury
Trostle	LE	Wolfe

Christian Endeavor

The Weekly Lesson For the Christian Endeavor Societies of the County For the Coming Sunday.

(A discussion of the weekly lesson for the Christian Endeavor societies of the various churches of the county will be given in The Gettysburg Times each Friday, prepared by Ralph G. Orner, or one of his associates.)

The topic this week is "Lessons From Great Athletes" and the scriptural lesson is 1 Corinthians 9:24-27 and Hebrews 12:1-3.

The lesson follows:

LESSONS FROM GREAT ATHLETES

The Epistles of St. Paul furnish us with considerable light on the athletes of that day. As Paul traveled from city to city among the Greeks, visiting such noted cities as Corinth, Ephesus and Athens, the athletic contests which absorbed the time and attention of most of the people furnished him with striking illustrations of the Christian life. In Paul's day they knew nothing of football and baseball, although they knew something of wrestling and running. The fact that hundreds of thousands of people are drawn to athletic contests in different parts of the country and the sporting pages of the papers are read more eagerly and by more people than any other part of the newspaper is an indication of the hold which athletics has upon the public today.

Great athletes occupy the center of attention in many people. The modern hero is not the great scholar, not the boy who leads his class in college or in high school, but the football hero, the baseball winner, the prize fight champion. Thousands of boys idolize Babe Ruth even though they have never seen him, but they know he makes a home run now and then.

What are some of the lessons which we may learn from great athletes?

1. To be a great athlete requires training of the body. The Dempsey-Tunney fight in actual fighting lasted only thirty minutes but the training required years. The same is true of football. The game lasts a comparatively short time, but the training takes a long while.

2. The great athlete gets control of his body. He undergoes discipline, regulates his diet, secures all the sleep he can. He keeps his body clean and pure. He does not smoke. Of course there are athletes who smoke but you do not find them at the top. They are like—

"The poor benighted Hindoo
They do the best they kin do."

3. The great athlete trains his mind. He controls his thoughts and impulses. He must be quick in decision and know how to take advantage of every opportunity. The man who is nervous and excited, who loses his head never arrives anywhere. It is the same in every walk of life—to be successful we need to think and act quickly.

4. The great athlete makes every effort count for something. How much of our every day life is without purpose? Too many times we simply drift along. The athlete would miss his crown if he were to do that.

5. The great athlete is always a good sport. This can best be explained by the following poem by Berton Braley:

THE SPORTSMAN'S PRAYER

Dear Lord, in the struggle that goes on thru life,
I ask but a friend that is fair—
A chance that is equal with all in the strife,
A courage to give and to dare.
And if I should win let it be by the code,
With my faith and my honor held high;
If I should lose, let me stand by the road

And cheer as the winners go by.

Oh, Lord, let my shouts be ungrudging and clear,
A tribute that comes from the heart,
Let me not cherish a snarl or a sneer
Or play any snivelling part.
Let me say: There they ride on whom laurels bestow,
Since they played the game better than I.
Let me stand with a smile by the side of the road
And cheer as the winners go by.

So, Lord, grant me to conquer if conquer I can

By proving the worth in the fray.
Yet teach me to lose like a regular man,
And not like a craven I pray.

Let me take off my hat to the warriors who strode
To victory splendid and high,
Yea, let me stand with a smile by the side of the road
And cheer as the winners go by.

RALPH G. ORNER.

APPLE MARKET DULL

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—The Philadelphia apple market was dull and trading was very slow yesterday. Pennsylvania 2½ inch Grimes Golden ranged from $2.75 to $3.00 per barrel, while 2½ inch Jonathan brought $2.50, according to the Pennsylvania and Federal Bureau of Markets.

Ethics is or are that or those principles of conduct that everybody preaches but nobody practices.

No more unsightly Pimples!
S.S.S. gives you a clear skin

WHAT a delightful sensation to look in your mirror and find your face free from pimples, blackheads, blotches and other skin blemishes. Isn't it wonderful to see your face radiant with red blooded health? Pure, red blood is what it takes to have a lovely skin. Facial blemishes can't be covered up successfully. Nor will anything else drive away these unsightly pimples and such, but the cleansing of the blood and the adding of rich, red blood.

And that's what S. S. S. does. All those objectionable blemishes will vanish and your skin will become soft and clear. S. S. S. has been such an aid for generations. Everybody is attracted to the girl with a rosy, healthy coloring—the girl with the soft, velvet like skin—a skin so lovely that it tells of boundless health and vitality. There is no excuse for disgusting eruptions on the skin. We know they can be driven away quickly with a powerful blood alternative such as S. S. S. has proven to be for 100 years. Start taking S. S. S. today. And get the larger size bottle. It's more economical.

LITTLESTOWN

Littlestown.—The soccer team of Littlestown High School continued its steady winning course by defeating the strong Franklin and Marshall Academy team of Lancaster, by a score of 3 to 1. This was the first time in the soccer history of Littlestown High School that Franklin and Marshall was defeated, an accomplishment which the local boys have a right to feel proud of. The game was played in four fifteen-minute quarters. So far, L. H. S. has won four consecutive games, and has lost none. The soccer team has done very well under the direction of the new coach, Prof. Chapin Day.

Score by quarters:

NEWSPAPER BUILDING

"Courage—if there's any one quality to build newspapers, it's editorial courage. Of course, there are all the other elements—news gathering, business and mechanical ability—but I think that if you analyze the history of the successful papers of this country, you will find that at one time or another in their careers, they won the respect of their community by at least one act of sincerity and courage."—David Stern, publisher, Camden Courier.

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Files Reveal.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Halloween To Be Orderly.—No four throwing or malicious mischief will be tolerated in Gettysburg on Halloween, according to orders, which have been issued by Burgess Holtzworth. Harmless amusements will be allowed but such practices as running away with vehicles, carrying away gates and fences and otherwise molesting property will be quickly stopped by the police, who have instructions to make prompt arrests.

Gettysburg 3—Muhlenberg 0.—Muhlenberg College football team proved a troublesome proposition for the local college eleven on Nixon Field Saturday and a 3 to 0 victory for the orange and blue was all that could be secured.

Gettysburg had decidedly the better of the argument throughout the game but scored only from Dayhoff's pretty drop kick from the 35-yard line. Four times the local collegians had the ball within the fifteen-yard line but Muhlenberg would always get together when their goal line was seriously threatened and a touchdown proved to be an impossibility.

Bucher—Brugh.—From the Washington, D. C., Star.—The marriage of Miss Ella C. Brugh and E. J. Bucher took place last Wednesday evening, October 11, at Grace Reformed church, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Schick officiating. The only attendant was little Miss Katherine Stockton, niece of the bride, who was flower girl. After the ceremony an informal reception was held and later in the evening they left for a short northern trip. Upon their return they will reside at Cashtown, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Bucher is a well known resident of Cashtown.

On Tuesday Cletus E. Naylor and Mrs. Carrie Petrey, of Aspers, were married at Aspers by Rev. C. F. Floto.

Received Autos.—The Crescent Automobile Company has received two of the $900 1912 Overland automobiles.

Girard College Boys on Field.—Sixty boys from the famous Girard College, at Philadelphia arrived in Gettysburg this afternoon by special train from Harrisburg to make a tour of the battlefield.

The youths spent this morning in Harrisburg, spending several hours at the new state capitol, of which they made a complete inspection. They were all enthusiastic over that portion of the trip, some of them being specially active in talking of their climb to the dome of the capitol.

They were brought here from Harrisburg by special train, arriving at 3:20, and were taken to the Pitzer House. The first portion of the battlefield trip was taken this afternoon with Mr. Pitzer and George L. Kieffer as guides.

Makes Reversible Turbine Engine.—John Kugler, of Route 2, Fairfield, who some time ago invented a new type of turbine engines and whose intention at that time was to get a reverse on the engine, has succeeded in doing so.

The test was made this week with the engine attached to the boiler belonging to Eiker Brothers. Quite a crowd had gathered to witness the test, which worked to perfection. When the steam was let into the engine, it immediately started off without any trouble at all and with very low steam pressure.

This Mr. Kugler claims is an entirely new type of engine, as the reversible turbine engines have never before proved a success. They are greatly needed, especially on great ships in case of a necessity for quick reversal of engines.

Ben Greet Players Coming.—The Ben Greet Players, who appeared in Gettysburg in Shakespeare's plays several years ago, have been booked by the College Press Club for matinee and evening on November 3, playing "Macbeth" and "Hamlet." Ben Greet players have a national fame and Gettysburg people may consider themselves fortunate in being able to see them here. The prices will be from .50 to $1.00.

Caught 181 Bass.—If every Adams county bass fisherman had been as successful this season as F. F. Miller, of East Berlin, the gamey bass would soon become extinct. He caught 181 of these fish this season, some of which weighed as high as three pounds.

S. M. Bushman left this morning for New York. He will sail Saturday on the "Cleveland" of the Hamburg-American line for a four month cruise around the world.

Miss Mary Swope returned home today after spending the past year in Paris and other European cities. She was met at Baltimore by her parents, Judge and Mrs. Swope.

Mrs. J. T. Huddle, of Washington, D. C., is spending some time at her home on Carlisle street.

Mrs. Julius F. Seebach has returned to Lewisburg, after spending several days at her home on Carlisle street.

Mrs. J. Allen Dickson and son, of Chambersburg street, were the guests of Miss Mabel Sheetz, in New Oxford today.

Orttanna.—Walter Sloat is spending a few days with his parents at York.

The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Moritz is ill at her home with scarlet fever.

Mrs. B. I. Walker has gone to Somerset to attend the wedding of her only daughter.

Mrs. Harry Cluck, of Mt. Alto, has returned home after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sowers.

Buchanan Valley.—Mrs. Annie Shorb has returned home from visiting her daughter, Mrs. Josephine Cole, of the "Narrows."

Miss Sallie Kimple is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Allen Kane, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kimple and Mr. and Mrs. James Kimple went with the excursion to Luray Caverns on Saturday last.

Virginia Mills.—Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lightner spent Tuesday evening at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Elmer Bennett, of Fairfield Station.

Miss Mary Kint is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bennett and family, of Fairfield.

The following spent a day recently at the home of Rev. and Mrs. D. C.

Eyer and family, of Fountain Dale; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Eyer, Mrs. Virginia Daywalt and son, Daniel, and Mrs. Calvin Daywalt, all of this place.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

AS I AM

That wife o' mine will tell you I
Am peevish, petulant and proud.
You see me with a laughing eye,
Making a show to please the crowd,
But she will tell you that I scold
The mornings when my coffee's cold.

That wife o' mine will tell you I
Am careless, critical and cross,
With neither taste for hat nor tie,
In some things I'm a total loss,
And did you gain her confidence
She'd tell you I've no common sense.

That wife o' mine will tell you I
Will whimper at the slightest pain
And act like one about to die
Until my health returns again.
She'll tell you that when I'm put out
My face takes on a baby pout.

That wife o' mine will tell you I
Am foolish, frivolous, forgetful;
You see me with a laughing eye,
But she has seen me when I'm fretful.

My public pose is but a sham,
The wife beholds me as I am.

Snappy Paragraphs

Poke Eazley made a flying trip to town today after a new wash tub and wash-board for his wife. He says he actually believes two or three wives would break a man up.

The Postmaster says he notices that when some of our blustery, loud-mouth, big-footed folks come to the post office, they make such a to-do over buying a stamp, they scare every rat off of the premises.

Slim Pickens says he has often heard tell of such deep attention being paid to anybody or something, that a pin could be heard to drop; but he tried it out during the quietest part of a Sunday afternoon and he couldn't hear one.

The "rocky road to Dublin" probably isn't any more rocky than Salem township, Clarion county. It comes forward with a ledge more than 236 feet long and from eight to twelve feet in height. The ledge is formed by a series of rock which ranges from 50 feet in length and 12 feet in height to 22 feet in length and six feet in height.

"Dear me," murmured little Jack Rabbit to himself, after saying goodbye to Sammy Skunk in the last story, "I'm sorry summer is over," and on he hopped, clipperty clip, lipperty lip, past a tall oak tree all in scarlet, like a flaming torch, and then past another clad in bright yellow, and still another hung with purplish crimson leaves.

"Boo-oo! How cold it is! I must find a place for my cocoon. Suppose we sleep side by side this winter, swinging on the same bush," cried one chilly Caterpillar to another as the bunny boy hopped along. Yes, sir, Billy Breeze was blowing cold, and the Sunny Meadow and Shady Forest People knew that the time had come to get ready for the winter.

Little Miss Garter Snake looked up at the little rabbit as he hurried by and declared that in a few days she would doze off until spring. Tommy Treetoad had already chosen his winter home and Miss Busy Bee was making the most of her time in visiting the last fall flowers to gather every bit of honey she could find. The queen bee had laid her nest egg and plenty of food had been placed nearby so that when the eggs hatched out in the spring the grubs would find enough to eat. Indeed, everybody seemed to be saying goodbye and getting ready to fall asleep.

Yes, everyone seemed to be preparing for a winter's nap except the gay butterflies, who flittered from one flower to another. They seemed to have no thought for the morrow, but danced here and there and everywhere, like pretty flowers on wings, blown hither and thither by the autumn wind.

"Heigh-ho, how the winds blow," all of a sudden shouted a familiar voice, and there sat Professor Jim Crow on a nearby tree, his Wisdom Book under his wing and a pair of spectacles on his long beak.

"Billy Breeze is mighty useful," went on the wise old crow. "He sows the seeds of every bush and tree and plant. If the seeds just dropped off at the feet of the parent tree or bush few would ever take root. They must be scattered far and near, out in the open and on fertile spots, so that Mr. Merry Sun and the rain may help them grow."

"I guess Jack Frost will nip many a late flower tonight," cried the little rabbit. "Some are withered on the stem today."

"I know one that will keep on blooming until bleak November," cawed the old crow, with a solemn wink at his small bunny listener.

"What flower do you mean?" asked the little rabbit.

"Can't you guess?" enquired the old bird, with another wink and maybe two. Guess he thought the little rabbit knew more than he did for the perplexed little bunny only answered, "No, sir!"

"Well, I'll tell you," promised the professor bird, taking off his spectacles to wipe them with his red silk handkerchief. "It's the witch-hazel. It waits until now to bloom. Just over yonder you will see the yellow of its fringing petals. All last spring when all the plants were busy putting out their blossoms, it was growing nuts from the blossoms of the year before."

"The little leaves have tiny red caps hung on them," laughed the bunny boy, on hopping over the path of hazel bushes. "Maybe they are little witch caps. Did you ever see an old witch with one of these caps on, Professor Jim Crow?"

"No, indeed," answered that practical old professor bird. "Those little caps were made by a mother insect stinging the leaf when she laid an egg on it," and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

Sale of waste paper annually brings the state hundreds of dollars. The paper is gathered from waste baskets each night and taken to the capitol basement where a power baler presses it into huge bundles. The paper is taken out when enough is baled to make a truck load.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

CRUSHED HEARTS

YEARS ago I came across a lovely poem that told of how a flower, crushed under foot by the careless passerby, made no complaint, but only gave back a more beautiful fragrance in return.

I recently read the story of a blind man, who was once a noble Lord with great possessions. But in the midst of misfortune, he became the prey of the evil, the calculating and the uncaring. Soon he was stripped of all he had—even to his great castle. But there was one who was faithful and loyal—a beautiful young woman who gave her all that she might minister to his wants. And together they roamed the country, bound and held by an everlasting love.

Not until the human heart has known sorrow and suffering and has gone hungry from sacrifice, can it know the beauty and gentleness of a living love.

The crushed heart is like the flower which gives back its greatest fragrance only after its beauty and unselfishness have been challenged through hurts.

Love is the eternal essence of character. It even outlives the man or woman, as the extract of the flower outlives the flower and is able to scent the air for years after the velvet colors have become as dust.

Today I sat for hours under a beautiful tree watching the early fall of the browned and reddened leaves. I thought of the buds that they had been all too short a time ago, and then I thought of how these softly falling gifts of nature would soon be a part of the soil again—again to rise in richness in another spring and again add life and substance to the towering tree above me.

And so it is with the crushed heart. Its substance remains a gift immortal under the shining stars, ready to give out again and again in richer worth and beauty. Mellowed, let us say, for greater giving.

PUBLIC UTILITY OFFICIALS STUDY

Vice Presidents of Company Attend Night School at University of Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh.—High officials of the Philadelphia company and its subsidiaries, owners of public utilities in Pittsburgh, are going to "night school" at the University of Pittsburgh. Ninety men of the Philadelphia company, including four vice presidents, registered for the course in public utility administration. Classes are held each Thursday evening under the direction of Dr. Charles Reitel and will be continued throughout the school year. The faculty includes Dr. Reitel, Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor of the university, and A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia company.

Among the public utility officials registered for the course are Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president of the Pittsburgh Railways company; F. R. Phillips, vice president of the Duquesne Light company; Alfred Hulbert, vice president of the Equitable Gas company; Harvey A. Keyes, vice president and general manager of the Equitable Sales company; W. T. Rossell, general manager of the Pittsburgh Railways company, and C. D. Smith, general manager of the Beaver Valley Traction company.

Operators on the capitol telephone switchboard are glad the world's series is over. When state employees were unable to leave their work and follow the games on the boards operated by the Harrisburg newspapers they resorted to use of the telephone to get the scores. There are dozens of ardent baseball fans on the hill and their inquiries all had to pass through the capitol exchange.

SKIN TROUBLE COVERS BODY

At last finds treatment which cleared it away in few days

Badger, Minn., March 1:—"A while ago I was troubled with a skin disease, a mild case of itch, which was very distressing. It began on my leg and was most aggravating; the more I scratched it, the more it itched. Finally a number of tiny pimples formed and soon spread all over my body. It became so bad that I did not know what to do about it and was going to consult a physician when a friend of mine suggested that I try Resinol Ointment. I bought a jar the next day and was delighted with the relief I obtained after the first application. A few more treatments and the itch was entirely gone. I have also used Resinol Soap and Ointment for blackheads and pimples and it helped wonderfully. I cannot praise Resinol enough for all the good it has done me." (Signed) Celia Stoffel, Star Route.

New Game Refuge Has Been Opened

Greensburg, Pa.—Wild animal life in Westmoreland county has a new refuge to which it can escape from the sportsmen who will be out in force November 1, when the hunting season opens. It embraces approximately 700 acres between New Florence and Ross mountain park.

Deputy Game Warden Bert Wright declares the site is ideal for the propagation and protection of game. There are plenty of springs and brooks and the hills are covered with scrub oak. Parts of the refuge are inaccessible except on foot and some of the wire used in marking the refuge had to be carried into the forest by the warden's helpers.

The refuge is bounded on one side by the pipe line of a gas company which patrols the line daily. The east side of the refuge is marked by the boundary line between Westmoreland and Cambria counties.

When Dr. George M. Sutton takes another trip to Labrador he is going to take plenty of clothing. On a trip this summer he thought he went fully prepared for almost any degree of cold. However, he had to resort to furs and found them most comfortable.

Dr. Sutton said the trip, made in connection with an expedition sponsored by the Carnegie museum, Pittsburgh, was most interesting and one which he hopes to repeat but not for several years.

MOTHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN

Helped in Caring for them by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Glasgow, Ky.—"I am the mother of seven children, the eldest being only 12 years, and I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped to pull me through the roughest places of my married life. At one time I was so downhearted that life was a misery. A friend in Indianapolis, Indiana, told me of the Vegetable Compound, and after taking a few bottles of it I became myself again and it was a pleasure to do my housework and gardening. Since then I always use your medicine when I feel weak from overwork and it straightens me out."

—Mrs. MELISSA BARDERS, Route 2 care of O. F. Steenbergen, Glasgow, Ky. New Orleans, La.—"I could not do a thing after my first boy was born. I was so weak, I had no appetite, lost weight and was not able to do my work. I was this way for seven weeks, then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got wonderful results from it."—Mrs. C. FAYNE, 4014 Dauphine St., New Orleans, La. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been growing in popularity among women for over fifty years.

CAME HOME TO DIE

"Three years ago I came home thinking 2 or 3 weeks would be my limit to live. I had suffered for 15 years from colic attacks and severe liver and stomach trouble. I happened to see an advertisement of MAYR'S and purchased a bottle at the drug store and after taking the first dose I felt better than I had for 15 years. I am now in the best of health—thanks to MAYR'S." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at People's Drug Store and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

TEACHER'S PRAISE INSPIRED ARTIST

Compliment by School Instructor Spurred Painter To Plan Art Career.

Greensburg, Pa.—Praise bestowed by a teacher in the old Fourth Ward School, at Latrobe, is credited by Esau J. Halow, artist, as being responsible for any success he has made in his chosen profession. He told the story while on a visit to his former home in that city.

"Why, Esau, perhaps some day you will be an artist" he said the teacher remarked as she looked over his shoulder at a picture he was drawing. That was the first time he ever had heard the word "artist" he declared asserting that in that remark was born a desire to become a painter.

Mr. Halow is a native of Syria but came to America with his parents at the age of seven years. The family settled in Latrobe and later moved away, but not until the son had completed the work in the eighth grade at school. Halow then sold oriental rugs, after which he took up the study of art.

Two works "Birches of Manistee" and "Silver Birches" are among his best known paintings.

Pitt And Colgate To Play First Game

Pittsburgh.—Football fans are showing much interest in the game here next Saturday between the Colgate and University of Pittsburgh squads. It is the first time the teams have met and the Colgate outfit is in charge of Nick Mehler, captain, of Sharpsville, near here.

Dr. J. B. Sutherland, coach of Pitt, gradually has fitted together a varsity that will go into the games with Colgate, Carnegie Tech, Washington and Jefferson, West Virginia University and Pennsylvania State College late this month and in November. It is considered probable that there will be no change in the makeup of the squad which includes Rooney, Welch, Schmitt and Booth in the backfield and Captain McMillin, Salata, Roberts, Cutler, Linn, Kern and Demoise on the line.

After the Colgate game Pitt will start a week of intensive training for the annual battle with Carnegie Tech, which is regarded as one of the outstanding games on its schedule.

FARM CALENDAR

Pick and Cure Seed Corn—Seed corn cures best if picked in the field and hung up in a building where there is free circulation of air around each ear. Be sure the corn is well cured before hard freezes come, say State College farm crops specialists.

Good Feeding Pays—Feed dairy cows enough to get a paying flow of milk. Every cow needs a certain amount of feed to maintain her system. Feed above that amount goes for milk production. Get a profitable yield from each cow by proper feeding.

Divide Rhubarb this Fall—If your rhubarb has been decreasing in yield with stalks getting smaller and the whole plant less vigorous, it may be time to divide the crowns. This work should be done every five or six years and may be satisfactorily accomplished in the fall. As soon as the tops have died down, dig up the roots, chop into several pieces with a spade, providing at least one bud to each piece of root and replant there to four feet apart in the row.

Put Pullets in Quarters—To avoid the losses of a fall moult among the pullets, be sure they are in winter quarters before they start laying. Ventilate well on warm fall nights. Observe regular feeding habits. Keep the birds fat. An abundance of green food and exercise are essential.

Protect Plowshares—When through using the plows put some grease on the shares. It will prevent rusting and save a lot of inconvenience in the spring.

Late Cutting Injurious—Give the alfalfa field a chance to produce a good crop next year by not cutting too late this fall.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, Mrs. William Singley, who died one year ago today, October 22, 1925.

We sat by her bedside
And watched her in her sleep,
When with pain we heard her moaning,
It almost made us weep.

Day after day we saw her linger
And slowly fade away,
Yet in our hearts we often prayed
That she might longer stay.

Oh, mother, dear! How can it be
No more thy look of love we'll see?
But now we will strive and daily pray
To meet thee in Eternal Day.

A mother, yes, a mother kind,
Has gone and left us here behind,
No use to weep for tears are vain,
For mother dear is out of pain.

Home is not home since mother's not Here,
Our home is lonely, so dark, so drear,
No more will we hear her footsteps fall.

She's gone to that home prepared
For us all.
By her son and daughter-in-law, Mr.
and Mrs. C. A. Singley.

There's a Thrill in Every Chapter—

"THE PIRATE OF PITTSBURGH"

by H. E. O. WHITMAN

Begins Next Sunday, October 24th
IN THE SUNDAY INQUIRER

A novel of love and piracy as unusual as it is exciting. With the suavity of a gentleman adventurer and the ferocity of a tiger, the Pirate of Pittsburgh seeks revenge on the daughter of his enemy. Luring her on his yacht, he abducts as well a young broker who happens on board to interview the Pirate, and forces them, strangers, into an unwelcome marriage. But at this point the story is just beginning! The excitement that follows, the narrow escapes—the attacks of rum-runners—the open warfare on the high seas—all these episodes will hold your interest until the last installment. Remember, this great serial will run in the Sunday Inquirer and so, to avoid missing a single chapter, order the Sunday Inquirer left at your address.

Snap Your Fingers at Old Age —Says Science

More than the loss of money or friends or fame, people fear the passing of youth. After a man or a woman starts the increasingly tiresome journey down the "other side of the hill" the zest of life gradually disappears. Perhaps this fear will be removed in the near future. Science has stepped forward with an optimistic opinion. No less a man than Dr. Carl Ramus, of the United States Public Health Service, tells—in next Sunday's Inquirer—how science may perform this apparent miracle.

How Four Billion Dollars Is Made in a Single Year

Mathematicians have compiled figures to prove that it would take an industrious and quick-fingered person 100 years to count $1,000,000,000 in the form of $1 bills—and that would mean working eight hours a day over that period. Also that that amount in $1 bills, laid as a carpet would form a rug 10 feet wide between New York and San Francisco. Yet this is only two-fifths of the amount stored in the United States Treasury! An entertaining full-page article in next Sunday's Inquirer will tell you in detail just how our money is manufactured.

Two Publications
Win College Prizes

State College.—Following close upon the announcement that the Pennsylvania State College junior class year-book won first place in an international contest at Geneva, Switzerland, it was learned today that another Penn State student publication had been awarded first honors in its field. It is the literary magazine known as "The Old Main Bell," published by the local chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity.

Each chapter of the fraternity must publish a paper or magazine at least once a year. At the recent convention of the fraternity in California, the committee of judges awarded first place to the Penn State publication. David D. Henry, winner of the White Fellowship last commencement, was editor of the magazine, and Professor M. M. Harris, of the English department, was faculty adviser.

The book that has the largest sale profits the publisher more than it does the reader.

Motorists astounded... at results obtained with the remarkable new ATLANTIC MOTOR OIL

"Wears" better—Lasts longer

THE most efficient and economical motor oil ever produced by The Atlantic Refining Company is waiting for you at Atlantic dealers and service stations.

Simply nothing else like it. So durable is this new Atlantic Motor Oil that were it not for unavoidable road-dirt contamination and gasoline dilution, you'd scarcely ever have to drain your crankcase. And, but for the consumption of oil in the combustion chambers, you would rarely have to replenish the supply.

It's all due to the Atlantic-perfected method of whirling out low-melting, oil-thinning, waxy impurities which in the past escaped in the usual distilling and filtering processes; and to the special Atlantic "tempering" or toughening process to which this oil is subjected.

The highest motor heat can't change the basic character of this oil. It won't evaporate, as do ordinary oils. It's all oil—pure, stable and producing a protective film that heat, friction or pressure simply can't force from the wearing surfaces of your motor.

Try this new Atlantic—today. You can buy it most everywhere. And the dealer's chart tells exactly which type is most suitable to your particular motor.

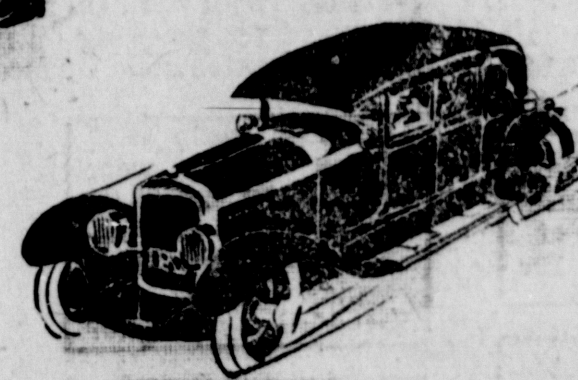

THE EVAPORATION TEST

Evaporation reduces the volume and changes the character of ordinary oil faster than anything else. Study these remarkable tests:

At 480° nine representative "medium" motor oils, under test, showed evaporation losses of 19% or greater

At 480° the new Atlantic Motor Oil (medium), under identical the same test, showed an evaporation loss of only 3%

NO FAMILY SHOULD BE WITHOUT PLANT JUICE

That's What Harrisburg Man Says After It Rid Him Of Stomach Trouble, And Built Him Up 20 Pounds In Weight.

"Dillingham's Plant Juice is nothing short of a blessing to mankind and no family ought to be without it," said John F. Rupp, well-known mechanic, residing at 4 N. Ninth St., Harrisburg, Pa.

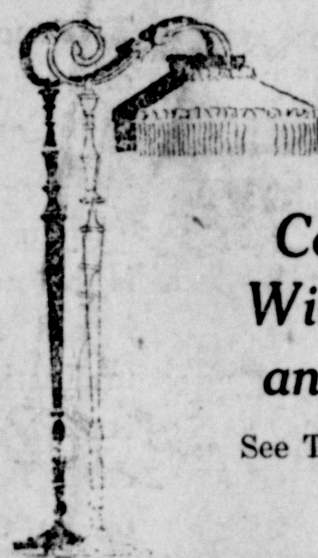

"Four years ago I was a great sufferer from indigestion, nervous headaches and neuritis. Then I got hold of Plant Juice and it certainly made a difference in my condition. My appetite came back to me and I got so I could eat anything I wanted without a particle of trouble afterwards—no gas bloating or sick feeling. My nerves steadied down, the headaches disappeared and the neuritis just passed right out of my system."

"I got so I could sleep fine and improved so much that I gained 20 pounds in weight and just felt made over completely."

Plant Juice is sold in Gettysburg by Shuman's Cut Rate Store and is sold by all leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

"The Waltz Dream"

A NEW HIT

Strauss's Operetta With Gay Mad Vienna as a background, made into another merry "Merry Widow."

VIENNA!

At it's maddest and merriest! A great romance of gay, reckless royalty!
It's A Sensation!

Vienna before the war. Bewitching, mad Vienna, with its light-hearted gaiety, its capricious disregard of the conventions, its singing and its waltzes, forms the background of a charming, yet virile story. From royal palace, stately, regal and solemn, to the wine gardens of old Vienna, where love and wine and song mingled gayly, the romance of a Princess grows in "The Waltz Dream." "The Waltz Dream" was the biggest hit of the New York theatrical season some years ago on the legitimate stage. Many companies sought vainly to secure the film rights. But Oscar Strauss composer of the music, and Hans Muller, who wrote the book, "Nux, the Prince Consort," felt that only a continental producer could do the theme justice.

A lavish picture has resulted. A picture filled with sentiment and box office appeal. Previews have shown the American response to this great romance. It packs a powerful punch as a climax to the love of a Princess for an Austrian officer, and the renunciation of her sweetheart by a girl of the people. It is bound to appeal to everybody, wherever played.

A cast of extraordinary talent and appeal interpret the screen version of "The Waltz Dream," which is being distributed in the United States by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. In addition—"The Gosh Darn Mortgage"

A Mack Sennett Two Reel Comedy.
